

Greg Siuta

Greg grew up in the Pacific Northwest, returning for a series of operational tours and has resided full-time in southern California for the past 15 years.

He graduated from East Carolina University with a BS in Economics and was selected by the US Navy for Officer Candidate School. Upon commissioning, he commenced on the Aviation career track, ultimately selecting EA-6B Prowlers for his operational community. His military career highlights include three deployments, two embarked and one Individual Augmentation; 2000 hours in the EA-6B; serving in a variety of tactical and leadership roles while concurrently earning Joint Military Professional Education (JPME) studies and a master's in business administration (MBA) from the Naval Postgraduate School.

After retiring from the Navy in 2009, Greg has supported a variety of EW, EMSO and Spectrum Operations projects and programs filling technical, operational and leadership roles. Over the last seven years, he is eagerly sought after and has established himself as the Lead Test Conductor of choice across the Joint Live, Virtual and Constructive (LVC) enterprise.

Greg joined the AOC more than 20 years ago and is a Lifetime AOC member. He has served in a variety of leadership roles for the Mugu Crows Chapter, where he has been the Chapter President for the last six years. During this time, the chapter has been selected as mid-sized Distinguished Chapter for five out of these six years, with the single outstanding year the Mugu Crows earning Outstanding Chapter accolades. He has developed innovative ways of enhancing contributions to the Mugu Crows' membership base and the greater AOC International Community and looks to contribute these experiences and achievements as your next Pacific Region Director.
